

THIRTIETH YEAR

LANCASTER, KY., THURSDAY AFTERNOON, DECEMBER 11, 1919.

NUMBER 37.

FIRST TOBACCO MARKET EVER HELD IN KENTUCKY, AND FOR MANY YEARS THE ONLY MARKET, WAS HELD IN GARRARD COUNTY.

SOME INTERESTING HISTORY.

Our magnificent new tobacco warehouse, one of the most commodious and best equipped in the state, is indeed a credit to the county, and had it been built many years sooner, the county would have been wealthier by many thousands of dollars. However, better late than never.

The great majority of our people are under the impression that this is the first public tobacco market of which Garrard county can boast. Such however is not the case. Garrard county had a tobacco market in full operation in 1817, and how long before that time we are unable to trace.

Major James A. Burnside talked interestingly to a Record man of this industry, and he came by his information from different sources, the greater portion of it being told to him by "Uncle" Clairborne Lear, who was a frequent visitor to the old time mart.

The original tobacco growers of the state were hard put for a market for their weed, and were compelled to send it to New Orleans; the trip was of a necessity a hard and sometimes a perilous one; it was loaded on flatboats, or sometimes rafts, at the mouth of Sugar Creek, thence down the Kentucky, Ohio and Mississippi rivers to New Orleans. The return trip was made on foot. One of the more hardy pioneers would usually organize an expedition and take his neighbors crops with him to market, taking enough of his hardy companions with him to assist in manning the boat, and to insure safety on the return trip through the then wild and unsettled country.

This tobacco eventually found its way to England, and the English people prized it very highly because of its light body and rich flavor so suitable for blending with coarser and heavier tobacco, and they determined to ascertain its source and origin. With this in view, they started out a runner; this runner first landed in New Orleans, tracing with difficulty this runner gradually worked his way up the big rivers and finally found the origin of this peculiar quality weed in the sand stone hills of old Garrard, around the mouth of Sugar Creek. This man returned to England and reported the result of his investigation, and in a very short time a house was built and a market established at the mouth of Sugar Creek for the handling of this peculiar type of tobacco, afterward known as White Burley.

This is known to have been the first tobacco market south of the Alleghenies, and for many years the only market in the state. To this market was attracted tobacco from four counties on the north side and five on this side of the river, the best grade coming as far south as Casey county. Many farmers began to give their undivided attention to the raising of tobacco, to the exclusion of other crops.

Billy Wall, an Englishman was the first manager, a man by the name of Mitchell, also an Englishman, the book-keeper, and Isaac Marksberry, the first inspector. The latter was the great grand-father of Mr. Frank Marksberry, our townsman.

The industry at that time was of a necessity in a crude state, they having none of the appliances which are now considered a necessity around a warehouse. The staves of the hogsheads were hewn, while the hoops were split saplings. The hogsheads when prized weighed 2000 pounds; the press or prize was a crude, primitive affair consisting of a log ingeniously arranged between two trees and rigged with log chains.

Uncle Clairb, is sure of the warehouse being in running order in 1817 because of the fact "that this was the year of the great freshet in Kentucky river, during which 7000 hogsheads of tobacco then on the ground awaiting shipment were swept away and lost."

Elijah Sartain, the great grand-father of postmaster E. P. Brown, at the time of this freshet had a consignment of tobacco on the ground ready for shipment; part of this he had raised and part bought, noting the rapidly rising waters and knowing the loss of this tobacco meant ruin for him, he hastened preparations for his trip. The river at this time was almost solid from bank to bank with floating trees and debris, and there was also great danger of being dragged from the raft or boat by low overhanging limbs. Sartain's friends tried to deter him from the perilous trip, but without avail, he declaring profanely that "his tobacco was going and if it went to hell he would go with it", and it was thought that he had actually been lost. He was not heard of for 3 years and he was mourned as dead. However, such was not the case. He finally reached New Orleans in safety, loaded it on a ship and went with it to Liverpool, where he disposed of it for an enormous price, returning here and investing the proceeds in land near Lancaster, where he spent the remainder of his days.

Naturally quite a village sprang up around this warehouse; a hotel was constructed and its proprietor was Mike Salter, his good wife "Aunt Osee" assisting him in looking after the welfare and comfort of his guests. This is a familiar name to Garrard county people, he being a revolutionary soldier; the grand-father of Capt. Thomas A. Elkin of Lancaster. Mr. Salter conducted a "bar" in connection with his hostelry and it became a congregating place for notables from all over the country.

Sam Marksberry, son of Isaac Marksberry, kept bar at the hotel; Sam frequently visited at the home of Major Burnside's father, and from his wonderful memory Major Burnside recalls some of the entries from Marksberry's ledger, which he frequently brought with him on these trips. Among them was "Capt. Billy Woods, one pint whiskey, 4 pence, Gen. Tom Kennedy, 1 quart whiskey 9 pence". Upon this book also appeared the name of Henry Clay, Gov. George Robertson, Bob Letcher, the Warfields, Bennetts and many other noted Kentuckians.

There was whiskey galore and of course gambling, and another sport which was indulged in of which many of us never heard, men met there to "fight their bullies". It was the custom in those days for rich planters to keep attached to his household a "bully". This person was well fed and groomed, furnished a good saddle horse and a negro to care for it and accompanied his "boss" wherever he might go; the only return expected of him was that he must fight at the word of his boss, much money usually being waged on his prowess, his downfall of course meaning the loss of his job and his luxurious means of livelihood. His head was kept shaved, biting and gouging was barred, and they fought rough and tumble, fist and skull until either he or his opponent, or some one for them, cried "enough". Cock fighting was also a favorite sport with these old time tobacco planters and their friends, and fabulous sums were won and lost at this place.

This market flourished for years, and until the railroads furnished a quicker, cheaper and more convenient mode of handling the crops.

Mr. James Clark, one of Louisville's pioneer tobacco buyers was also one of Major Burnside's informants as to this unique market, and insisted that some effort be made to secure some definite data in regard to it, and also the seed of the original tobacco. Major Burnside made careful inquiry, and what is here written is the result of that inquiry. The tobacco grown is supposed to have been what is known as White Burley. Other information was gleaned from Major Robert Burnside a great uncle of Messrs James A. and Joe Burnside, who resided in the vicinity of the mouth of Sugar Creek, and who owned a distillery and powder mill and who was noted for a peculiar rifle powder which he manufactured.

Other names mentioned in connection with the old market are familiar. "Uncle Billy" Wall was well known to many of our older inhabitants, and spent his declining years in the county; Isaac Marksberry was the founder of the well known family of that name, some of whom now reside in Lancaster; Bob Mitchell, the book-keeper, afterward became cashier of a branch of the old Bank of Kentucky in Danville, and many others who were connected with this original tobacco market have descendants now residing in the county.

COAL STRIKE

SETTLED.

Wilson's Offer Accepted After Stubborn Fight.

The strike of 400,000 bituminous coal miners of the country was settled in Indianapolis Wednesday when the General Committee of the United Mine Workers of America agreed to accept the plan offered by President Wilson.

The members voted to accept the proposal of President Wilson shortly before 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon. At that time, it was said, no vote had been taken on the question of holding a convention of the union. The committee was still in session at that hour.

The plan provides that the miners shall return to work at once at an increase of 14 per cent in wages; that a commission of three persons be appointed to investigate and determine within sixty days if possible, a basis for a new wage agreement. The conference was made up of international and district officials and members of the Executive Board and Scale Committee of the organization.

TWO RESIDENCES

And Tobacco Land At Auction.

James W. Smith and Theo. Currey are going to sell their two handsome new residences located on 43 acres of the W. R. Cook farm 1 1/4 miles from Lancaster on the new Danville pike, SATURDAY DECEMBER 20th, 1919 at two o'clock, these are two of the best locations to be had around Lancaster and we are sure that people looking for a nice place to live and good tobacco land will do no better than attend this sale. Read their description in this paper.

Public Auction.

Messrs O. T. Wallace and G. C. Walker, representing the United Realty Company, of Lexington, Ky, have just bought a 146 acre tract of land from Howard King. This land is located just below Bryantsville on the Lexington pike and is the place where Howard King has lived for the past ten years. This company will subdivide this farm and sell it at public auction. Watch for the date.

Pastor Recalled.

At a regular business meeting last Tuesday, the Lancaster Baptist Church voted unanimously to continue the present pastor, Rev. C. D. Strother, for 1920, at a substantial increase in salary. Brother Strother has made many friends since coming to Lancaster nearly a year ago. It is gratifying to know that he is to remain a citizen of the best little town in Kentucky.

Red Cross Seals, A La Mother Goose.

There was an old woman who lived in a shoe, She had so many children, she didn't know what to do, As she couldn't buy each one a Christmas toy, She stuck a Red Cross Seal on each girl and boy.

Mary had a little lamb, she hitched it to a cart, And in the cart she put some Seals, all ready to depart, All day she sold her Red Cross Seals, to help the cause along, And having sold to great success, went homeward with a song.

Little Jack Horner stood on a corner, Looking for something to buy, He turned on his heels, And bought Christmas Seals, And said, "What a good boy am I".

Daffy Down Dilly has come up to town, In a fine petticoat and a green gown, She will purchase a gift for each of her friends, And put Red Cross Seals on all that she sends.

To market, to market, to buy a fat pig; Home again, home again, jiggety-jig, Back again, back again, right straight way— Forget Red Cross Seals, must have them today.

You save the difference at the "Economy Store."

E. P. MORROW

Is Sworn in as Governor

Thousands Applaud Renewal of His Pledges Made In Campaign. Big Parade Is Feature.

Frankfort, Ky. Dec. 9th.—Edwin P. Morrow became Governor of Kentucky at 1:54 o'clock this afternoon. He and S. Thurston Ballard, Lieutenant Governor, took the oath of office in the open under lowering skies, while thousands of persons looked on.

The oath was administered by Judge John D. Carroll, Chief Justice of the Kentucky Court of Appeals, following a brief address by Mr. Morrow, in which he renewed his pre-election pledges.

The address of Mr. Morrow followed one by ex-Gov. James D. Black reviewing legislation enacted during the last four years of Democratic regime and denying responsibility for any errors that may have been made.

Judge Ed. C. O'Rear, former member of the Kentucky Court of Appeals and one-time Republican candidate for Governor, was master of ceremonies.

While Governor Black was speaking the crowd grew restive, and toward the close he was interrupted by persons calling on him to sit down and let Governor-elect Morrow "have the floor".

"I will do so presently", he said to one of the more insistent, but continued to the end without eliminating a word that appeared in his type-written manuscript.

In the course of his address, devoted largely to explanations as to why he failed to "clean house" during his brief reign as the State's Chief Executive, Governor Black said his chief regret over his defeat was that he would not be able to put into effect the programme he had mapped out for upbuilding Kentucky's educational facilities, and elimination of her penal and charitable institutions from politics.

Morrow Proud and Humble.

Mr. Morrow began his address with the statement that he was "at once the proudest and humblest of men", explaining that he was humble in his ability resting on him. He said that consciousness of the great responsibility the unprecedented vote given him and the rest of the Republican ticket thundered forth "the people's ballot of rebuke to unfaithful servants and inefficient execution of public trust." He pledged himself to assist in development of the State's natural resources, and to see to the physical, mental and moral welfare of the people of Kentucky.

Dr. John G. South, relative of Mr. Morrow, introduced Judge O'Rear, explaining that the latter had been selected as master of ceremonies. Judge O'Rear, in introducing Governor Black, referred to him as a Governor than whom none ever had been held in higher esteem, from the standpoint of integrity and patriotism. He also termed him a "game loser".

DEATH SUMMONS

Comes to Thomas Rothwell Slavin Last Friday Night.

The news of the death of Mr. Tom Slavin at his home on the Richmond road last Friday evening came as a sorrow to all who knew him. He was a good citizen and led a quiet unobtrusive life, his interests all centering in his home, his wife and intimates. The esteem in which he was held by his friends and neighbors was evinced by the kindly and untiring attention which they devoted to him during his illness.

He was a devout member of the Presbyterian church and ten years ago he and Miss Jennie Kavanaugh were united in marriage in the old Paint Lick church, and have lived almost in its shadow every since, devoting a large part of their interests and thought to it and their pastors. His response to charity was always ready, willing and liberal and in all his work and thought his devoted wife joined with him.

The deceased was born Nov. 18th, 1869. He was a son of Benjamin and Eliza Kennedy Slavin. He is survived by three brothers, Dr. J. L. Slavin and E. K. Slavin of Danville and J. W. Slavin of Texas.

Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon at his late residence and burial afterwards took place in the Paint Lick cemetery. The flowers that mark the new made grave are mute reminders of love and sympathy.

Red Cross Seals Campaign Starts.

Workers Must Keep Busy Actively If Quota Set For State Is To Be Realized But Many More Are Expected To Be Sold.

Sales of the first six days of the Red Cross Christmas Seals have not been up to the mark set by the promoters of the sale, which include every public health agency in Kentucky. The State Board of Health, the Kentucky Tuberculosis Association, the Red Cross, the Public Health Nursing Associations in all parts of the state, and the County Tuberculosis Associations.

Many stamps have been sold in the intensive campaign in Northern Kentucky, where W. C. Ryerson, a newspaper live wire, is chairman. In Western Kentucky, too, reports show that many seals have been sold, but not enough to make the state's quota unless they are considerably increased.

In Lexington the school children have sold their quotas and have sent in requisitions for more Seals. Major Ernest B. Ellis, who is Assisting Chairman J. A. Goodson there, offered prizes of $100. for the best seals salesmen among the children, and the very first day the school quota was all sold.

It is hoped to finish the campaign this week, but if necessary, it will be continued until the quota of $130,660 is raised. Many more Seals are expected to be sold this week.

$60,000,000 Road Bond Issue.

Because leaders of the incoming administration are said to be opposed to any increase in the tax rate for any purpose, a $60,000,000 road bond issue, it is said, may be the solution of the road problem. A plan is also contemplated to have an automobile tax sufficient to pay interest on the bonds and create a sinking fund for their retirement.

The sale of Roscoe Whittaker which was advertised for Dec. 6th, was postponed until Dec. 13th, on account of the high water.

Lancaster Baptist Church Pledges Liberally.

When the big drive to raise $75,000,000.00 in five years among the 3,000,000 Southern White Baptists was planned, the Lancaster Baptist church was assigned the quota of $7,000.00 or $1400.00 a year for five years. The campaign closed December 7th.

The Lancaster Baptist Church went over the top by raising in cash and pledges a total of $9,000 for the five years, or $1800.00 a year. There are so far about 140 individual pledges, but eight of the individual pledges amount to $4000.00, that is, eight members pledged $500. each. Late reports indicate that Kentucky will exceed her quota by $2,000,000. or more and that instead of $75,000,000.00 throughout South, there will be $100,000,000.00 or more pledged.

The money pledged in this South-wide campaign is for benevolences: Foreign, Home and State Missions, Schools and Colleges, Orphanages, Ministerial Relief, and Hospitals. Local church expenses are not included.

Regular Ford Way.

Ford Company Began On Starter In 1911.

Henry Ford tested the Ford Starting and Lighting System on his own car for one year.

Ten months ago the Ford Motor Company was not manufacturing Electric Starters; today the output of its Starter Department is greater than that of any other manufacturer of electric starting devices in the world. Its nearest competitor makes one thousand a day, whereas the Ford Company's output is fast approaching the three thousand mark, two thousand eight hundred and eighty one already having been manufactured in one day.

The Ford starter—and generator, for it is really two separate units—is not the result of a new idea or of a sudden decision. More than eight years ago Mr. Henry Ford's vision saw the need, and his electrical engineers were instructed to begin experimenting. After seven years of constant research, which took into consideration the many different climates in which the Ford car is used, together with the factors of size and weight and an adaptability to quantity production, twenty-three trial jobs were built. These were tested in many different ways. Mr. Ford himself used one on his car for a year. Still the engineers continued their experiments and improvements.

Then came the order from the Government for 15,000 three-ton tanks, each one of which was to be equipped with two synchronized Ford Motors. A starter was essential, so the one now being installed on Ford cars was evolved. But, only one starter and generator was used to turn over the two Ford motors in each tank. January first 1919 the Ford Motor Company began equipping enclosed cars with this new starting and lighting system. Ford engineers say that although the entire system—Starter and Generator—weighs only thirty-one pounds, it produces a higher torque output (constant rotary motion) pound for pound, than any other system on the market.

When the department for building the Starting and Lighting Systems first began production, fifty hours labor was charged to each unit, but now that machinery and equipment have been installed, the time per unit is four hours. Two huge armature impregnating ovens have been installed, each with a capacity of 1700 every eight hours. In these ovens the armatures are dried, soaked in varnish and dried again. Eight hours time is required for this one operation.

The power from the starter to the motor is applied through the well known Bendix drive, which automatically engages the starter and then, once the motor is started, the starter immediately disengages. It is equipped with oilless bearings and needs practically no attention.

Within another thirty days or six weeks, the Ford Company expects to be making enough starters so that every Ford car will be equipped with the new Electric Starting and Lighting System.

COULD HARDLY STAND ALONE

Terrible Suffering From Headache, Sideache, Backache, and Weakness, Relieved by Cardui, Says This Texas Lady.

Gonzales, Tex.—Mrs. Minnie Philpot, of this place, writes: "Five years ago I was taken with a pain in my left side. It was right under my left rib. It would commence with an aching and extend up into my left shoulder and on down into my back. By that time the pain would be so severe I would have to take to bed, and suffered usually about three days. I suffered this way for three years, and got to be a mere skeleton and was so weak I could hardly stand alone. Was not able to go anywhere and had to let my house work go. I suffered awful with a pain in my back and I had the headache all the time. I just was unable to do a thing. My life was a misery, my stomach got in an awful condition, caused from taking so much medicine. I suffered so much pain. I had just about given up all hopes of our getting anything to help me.

One day a Birthday Almanac was thrown in my yard. After reading its testimonials I decided to try Cardui, and am so thankful that I did, for I began to improve when on the second bottle. I am now a well woman and feeling fine and the cure has been permanent for it has been two years since my awful bad health. I will always praise and recommend Cardui." Try Cardui today. B 76

Gulfport, Miss.

Mississippi is a land of romance and interesting history, and she has furnished some famous men who have had spectacular careers.

Mississippi was found by old world explorers to have a fine climate and many fascinations. Two centuries ago DeSoto, Joliet, Marquette, Iberville, Bienville and LaSalle had a "vision" of the civilization of Mississippi of today.

At Gulfport is a railway pier extending one mile into the Mississippi Sound. It gives dockage facilities to foreign vessels and makes the harbor a gateway to the interior of the state, and south to the Panama Canal region. Gulfport is famed for its accessibility from and to all points north, south, east and west.

The city of Gulfport has attractive homes, fine churches and schools, and an aggressive wide-awake people. She has also about her fruit lands and garden spots for the settler from the north. She has a fine up-to-date hostelry. Gulfport is on the beautiful Shell road also, that extends for miles along the edge of the Sound. It is a fine breeze one gets at most any day of the year, when abroad that electric line that runs along the very waters edge. The golf links, a few miles east of Gulfport are an attraction on this line; also the Military Academy and beautiful Beauvoir, that was once the home of Jefferson Davis, and which is now a harbor for the Confederate Veterans of the South.

If, while sojourning at Gulfport, one is weary of golfing or boating, why then in the moonlit nights or dark nights one can go searching for "flounders"—when the tide is out. It is a picturesque sight to see men and women, who live along the shore who often at night are thus engaged. By the aid of their torches they enjoy this sport. No doubt many find it an economic pastime.

Gulfport is a coming city of some size! Strangers are cordially welcome either to visit for a time or to add their interest to that of many others who come for the attractions and well-being she offers to all who may wish to share them with her.—Carlyle Porter. adv.

As Others See Us.

A revenue man, who is an expert in tobacco statistics, told the writer a few days ago that in his opinion Garrard County's output of tobacco this year would be 10,000,000 pounds and that it would bring into the wealth of that county $6,000,000. Garrard county certainly will be rolling in wealth at the end of the present selling season.—Danville Advocate.

Wanted—Red-

Blooded Men!

Happy and Successful People Everywhere Are Always in Great Demand.

Best Friends—Red Blooded

Pepto-Mangan Produces Better Blood—Sold in Liquid and Tablet Form.

Get into the red-blooded class if you are not there now. Take a few weeks' course of that splendid tonic—Pepto-Mangan and note how you improve in health and looks. Pepto-Mangan is a red-blood maker and is for sale at the drug store right near your home. It is put up in both liquid and tablet form. Take which you choose, but see that the name "Gude" is on the package. Without "Gude" it is not Pepto-Mangan.

It is the cry everywhere—"Wanted—Red-Blooded Men." The soldiers and sailors that won the war were red-blooded, two-fisted fellows. In business it is the red-blooded man that stands the strain and wins the big successes. The world has no place for the thin-blooded weakling. It is natural, too, that red-blooded men and women should have more friends, and they do. They are better human beings than the thin-blooded anemics, who are likely to be "grouchy" and irritable most of the time.

AGED RESIDENT SAYS BENEFITS TOTALLED $1000.

Relief Trutona Gave Worth that Much to Her, Mrs. Benner
Declares.

Louisville, Ky., Dec. 10.—"For six dollars I've paid out for Trutona I feel that I've received $1000 worth of benefits," Mrs. C. Benner, 1123 Bardstown Road, said recently. Mrs. Benner, who is 52 years old, has long been a resident of Louisville, having been born here, and she is well known in this city and vicinity. "I'll admit that I didn't have much faith in Trutona at first but it soon proved to be the medicine for my ailments," Mrs. Benner continued. "I used to suffer severe bilious attacks. No one knows the terrible feeling I'd experience during those spells. Some times they would attack me while I was down town and I'd have a hard time getting home. My appetite was so poor there was hardly any kind of food that would tempt me. My liver has been out of shape for the past two years."

"After I had taken three bottles of Trutona I realized it was helping me and now, with the fourth bottle finished, the bilious attacks have ceased to occur. I haven't had a spell for the past week. My kidneys are in better shape too. I can truthfully recommend Trutona to those who are suffering as I did."

Trutona is especially beneficial for stomach, liver and bowel troubles, catarrhal complaints, nervousness, sleeplessness, loss of appetite and the like and as equally as efficient as a reconstructive agency for overcoming after effects of pneumonia, influenza, deep colds and the like.

Trutona, the perfect tonic, is now being introduced and explained in Lancaster, at R. E. McRoberts Drug Store

Bees in the more northern parts of the United States for many years have been placed by some of the best beekeepers in cellars or special repositories during the coldest parts of the winter. There has been a growing feeling, however, that if outdoor wintering is practicable, in most cases it gives better results, and there has been a decided change from cellar wintering to outdoor wintering within the past decade. The difficulty seems to be that the methods of cellar wintering practiced have not been satisfactory and it seems probable that if as much attention had been given to the perfection of the methods of cellar wintering as has been given to an improvement of the methods of outdoor wintering, there would not have been as great a change to the outdoor methods as has taken place.

The placing of bees in a cellar is only another way of putting insulation about the hives, the only difference being that in the cellar all of the hives are protected alike and the protection is placed about the apiary instead of around hives in groups or singly. It follows that the principles which apply to successful outdoor wintering apply equally to the protection of the bees in the cellar.

Essentials to Success.
As in the case of outdoor wintering, the essentials to success in caring for a normal colony of bees from the end of one season's honey flow to the beginning of the next lie in providing three things in abundance: (1) Stores of good quality, (2) protection from wind and cold, and (3) room for the rearing of brood at appropriate times. These factors must not be lacking at the right times, and if any one is omitted it may prevent the bees from gathering the crop of the following season. These three factors do not apply equally throughout the period of relative inactivity, but as certainly as anyone of them is decreased, just so certainly will next year's crop be reduced.

In practicing cellar wintering it is unnecessary to leave so much honey with the bees during the time that they are in the cellar, and it is not necessary during that period to leave room for the rearing of brood. During the coldest part of the winter the bees need especially protection from cold and wind, although enough good stores must be in the hive to keep them through that period in good condition. Probably a large part of the failure of beekeepers in practicing cellar wintering comes from the fact that before and after the bees are in the cellar the important factors of stores and breeding room have not been adequately supplied. Before the bees are put into the cellar they must have room for breeding and stores in abundance, and after they are taken out these two factors must be present in greatly increased abundance.

Necessity of Strong Colonies.
As in the case of wintering outdoors, it is wasteful to attempt to winter weak colonies. It is difficult to set standards of colony strength at this season, but it is unwise to attempt to winter colonies that are not strong enough to have brood sufficient to fill three or four Langstroth frames two months before the first killing frost. If the colonies in the apiary are not of the proper strength, it is wise to unite until the proper strength is reached.

It is of the greatest importance that every colony have a good queen in order that brood rearing may continue in the fall and may then again proceed rapidly in the spring. Usually it is best to requeen at least every two years, but if good wintering is practiced the colonies will come out of winter quarters so strong and will build up so rapidly in the spring that the queens will soon wear out, making it safer to requeen every year. To get the best results from requeening, all young queens should be introduced so that they begin to lay about two months before the first killing frost.

Meaning of "Sera"
The word Sera, which occurs so frequently in the Psalms, is usually believed to be a direction to the musicians who chanted the Psalms in the temple. Mattheson, the great musical critic, wrote a book on the subject, in which, after rejecting a number of theories, he came to the conclusion that it is equivalent to the modern "da capo," and is a direction that the air or song is to be repeated from the commencement to the part where the word is placed.

Importance of Good Health.
Good health of the body is sure, does not sum up the whole secret of personality. But it is a most important element, as you will presently appreciate when you adopt rules of living that result in a distinct bettering of your health. You will begin to feel more self-confident. You will attack business problems more masterfully. You will find it far easier to sway others by your personal influence.—H. Addison Bruce, in Chicago News.

"Baby Bonds" and "Baby Beef"

By C. M. MORRISON.

It appears that the "Baby Bond" and "Baby Beef" idea got tangled up in the boyish brain of Bobby Young, at or about the same time. "Bob" was, officially, Robert Young, Jr. But his old man considered that he himself was the author of the classic phrase: "I can take one mule and one nigger and show you more about farmin' on one 40 acres than all these book-farmin' fellers can show you on a hull quarter section."

Well, what are you going to do about it, when you have a father who is no thicker than that back of the ears, and who is just that narrow between the eyes? It looks like there wasn't much room for argument, don't it?

Bob wasn't much of a youngster to argue, anyway. He had got hold of the pure-bred beef idea and then the "Baby Beef" scheme got planted in his gray matter. He had it all figured out that if he could get hold of the right kind of stock he could feed some young beef steers that would be just about the slickest things that ever stepped on a feedlot scale. But to get the right kind of steers and to hold and have them in his own name and behoof, so to speak—well, that was a different kind of an animal.

The W. S. S. campaign hadn't got much more than well started till Bob was all interest. Savings accounts meant nothing in his young life and the only bank he had any dealings with was an old tin box that he kept his savings in and well hidden under a loose board in the attic. The words "Baby Bond" as applied to the War Savings Stamp of the Five-Dollar denomination kept ringing in his mind and he began to connect them up with his pet project about "Baby Beef."

Now with enough "Baby Bonds" it would be possible, after a while, to turn in and buy the raw material for his "Baby Beef" feeding project. It might take a year or two, though, and a year or two seemed a mighty long time to a youngster who was still wrestling with cube root and mensuration in the country school house, while he felt like he ought to be studying feeding tables and mastering the Babcock tester.

The thing to do was to make a start. Out of its dark hiding place under the oaken flooring of the old farm house came Bob's tin box. The next time the mail carrier came around he was somewhat surprised to see a freckled lad rise up out of the fence corner at the turn of the road and order three of the "Baby Bonds."

Bob was making his start. Somehow it seemed a lot easier to save money when you had something plainly before you that you wanted to do. Then, too, it looked like chances to make money, enough to go a good way toward buying another "Baby Bond," kept turning up.

The walnut trees seemed to understand that it was necessary for a boy to make a little more money than usual that fall, for the trees were laden and walnuts were never higher in price. Minks, muskrats and skunks were not inclined to walk obligingly into traps, but a good many of them got tangled up on the steel jaws of Victor and Newhouse before the trapping season was many weeks old.

With one thing and another the youngster who had set out to collect himself some "Baby Bonds" and some "Baby Beef" found himself in possession of about fourteen or fifteen of the "Bonds" by December 15. It had been a hard struggle and took a good deal of self denial, but there the W. S. S. were, all tucked away in the old tin box.

A day or so later, his mother's brother, a red-faced, brown-handed citizen of Wyoming, made the pilgrimage "back home." He had been growing Shorthorn beef out on the ranges and he loved, above all things, to talk beef, particularly Shorthorn beef. In Bob he found a kindred soul. He soon gave up Bob's father as a sort of a hopeless case, but he and the boy put in a lot of time together. It wasn't long, of course, until he had got at the whole story of the "babies," the "bonds" and the "beef."

"I'll tell you, Bob," he said as they sat by the kitchen fireplace on Christmas Eve. "This bond and beef scheme you've got in your head is mighty nigh to all right. It will be slow picking for you. But you keep hammering along now. My Christmas present to you this year, one of them, anyway, is going to be a promise."

"You keep going with this plan of yours and I'll back you in the beef end of the business. For every dollar that you will stick into the little 'bonds' by next Christmas I'll put up two dollars. I've a hunch that you will have about enough by that time to make a start on the beef end of your little old scheme."

"You little old green rascals," Bob addressed his "Baby Bonds" that night when he turned in, "looks like you've just about made good on your part of the job already. What's a year, anyway? I'll bet I have the slickest little old bunch of forced-fed steers one of these days you ever saw."

THE RESULT

By MILDRED WHITE.

"She doesn't think I'm worth a pleasant word," Richard bewailed, "and I love her to distraction."

Fan's elder sister smiled.

"Fan usually appreciates what others prize," she suggested meaningly.

"You think," the lover asked, "that I ought to go about flirting with other girls in order to win Fan's favor? Well—I can't. Besides the other girls might not be so impressionable."

"Charming modesty," Eleanor laughed, but she realized the truth of the statement.

"It is strange," she said, "how all men young and old, flock about my little Fan. Of course, she is the dearest girl in the world, but she treats them all so mockingly, one would think they'd resent it. Her young heart has not yet been awakened, Dicky, and you have as good a chance as any. I have told you—Fan always desires the unobtainable. If you could make her just a bit jealous—"

"Of whom?" the man asked brusquely.

Eleanor considered. Girls were inexplicable creatures. Far be it from herself to bring upon this earnest friend the reproach of a broken heart. Richard broke the silence.

"I know," he said, "great idea, if you will coincide. You shall be the object of my apparent adoration, Nell; I'll make love to you under Fan's saucy nose, and if she should become jealous we will take it for a sign."

"Me!" Eleanor gasped. "Oh! she wouldn't be jealous of me, Dicky. I'm too old, older even than you."

"By a few months," the man answered calmly, "and not observable to the other's eyes. You are safest guess, Nell. When the game is over you can return to your knitting."

Eleanor gazed down at the colored wool in her hands. Something in the careless remark saddened her. Always, it seemed, that had been her lot. After the game was over—she returned to her knitting. At Fan's age she had been as gay and popular as she, but the merry game had not lasted long, for the arms of her small orphaned sister had reached out to her demanding loving protection. And Eleanor had not failed in the giving.

She wondered now wistfully, if Fan might not laugh at the very thought of herself as a rival.

"You cannot object if you would," Richard said, "I am determined to be your adoring slave. A certain red-gold head appears on the horizon. Kindly unwind this wool from my trembling fingers."

Eleanor laughed. Dicky had posed ridiculously at her feet with the crimson wool stretched between his hands.

Obediently she began to unwind, as he watched her. The intoneness of his gaze brought a flush to Eleanor's cheek; it was an amusing game, the elder sister desperately restraining a girlish giggle as Fan came suddenly upon them.

"I want," Fan began promptly, "to go in my boat; please, get it for me, Dicky."

"Can't," Richard absently murmured. "Have to help Nell with this wool; afterward she's going to show me the view from the ridge."

The young girl's eyes widened.

"You mean," she asked, "that you don't want to go with me?"

"Not exactly that," Richard replied apologetically. He was evidently embarrassed; "Nell asked me first, you see—"

"Oh! all right," Fan answered airily. "Bobby will be glad to take me."

She was humming a tune as she left them, but the glance she threw at her sister was inquiring. Eleanor seemed happily oblivious.

Throughout days which followed, the elder sister often found that inquiring glance bent upon her. Richard persistently played his part. He formed a habit of reading aloud to Eleanor afternoons in a nook on the shore, plainly discernible from the bathing spot which Fan and her admirers frequented.

The game grew in interest and excitement. When the younger sister was absent they discussed in secret enjoyment her fancied symptoms of jealousy. Then one day Eleanor came to meet Richard vaguely troubled.

"Fan is with that Bobby person all the time," she said. "I thought at first that she was trying merely to pay you back in your own coin. But Bobby's a winsome lad. You'd better go back to her, Dicky, before it is too late."

So Richard went to take up his old allegiance. Fan proved strangely disappointing. He had never before realized her lack of appreciation for literature. He and Nell had so enjoyed those old books together, and Fan was frankly disinterested in his work. Nell had grasped with wonderful intuition the details of his business. Swimming and motoring were all right in their way, but one couldn't be dragged about in that sort of foolishness forever, he reflected; so for comfort Richard went back to the elder sister.

"I'm sorry for you Dicky, so sorry!" Nell began sympathetically. "Fan is actually engaged to Bobby."

"Thank goodness!" Richard was startled to hear himself exclaim. He paused. A red golden head showed in a doorway.

"I knew that you and Eleanor were meant for each other," triumphed the owner of the head. "But you were both so dreadfully slow in finding it out." (Copyright, 1919, by the Western Newspaper Union.)

TREATMENT FOR WANING ALFALFA

Old Field Cannot Be Revived By Reseeding After Cultivating in Autumn.

SEED IS WASTED ANNUALLY

Best Plan, Where Sod Is Beginning to Show Ravages of Wear, to Plow
 Up and Grow Some Cultivated Crop, Such as Corn.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

It is practically impossible to try to make an old alfalfa field look like new by attempting to sow more seed after disking or cultivating in the fall.
 Thousands of dollars' worth of seed are wasted in unsuccessful attempts to revive the waning stand of alfalfa.
 Specialists recommend that fields on the decline should be plowed up and reseeded.

Even though the seed germinates successfully, the plants mature at periods different from those of the old plants, while ordinarily the young plants are smothered out before they make much growth. Even where an alfalfa field is patchy and covered with practically bare spots, it is not advisable to attempt to reseed except by breaking up the entire field and again sowing down with alfalfa.

Not Profitable to Cultivate.
 It is always objectionable, according to the specialists, to cultivate or disk an alfalfa field irrespective of its age and condition, as carefully conducted experiments have shown that the only section in which it was profitable to cultivate the alfalfa crop in any way was in the irrigated belt of the far West.

Usually unfavorable results attend where alfalfa is disked under eastern conditions, although in the case of alfalfa fields which have been badly in-

Four-Year Old Alfalfa Plant.

feeted with weeds, it has been the practice of many growers to disk after the alfalfa has been cut, with the disks set nearly straight.

Plow Up Alfalfa Sod.
 The best plan, where the alfalfa sod is beginning to show the ravages of wear, is to plow up the field and devote it to some cultivated crop, such as corn, for one or two years, and then to reseed it to alfalfa after preparing a proper seed bed, liming the soil if necessary, properly inoculating the soil or seed, and sowing the seed early enough in the fall so that the crop will establish a vigorous root system and produce sufficient growth to wither the winter successfully.

FATTENING FEED FOR STEERS

Experimental Stations Recommend Corn Silage and Concentrates as Best for Cattle.

Corn silage and concentrates are highly recommended as fattening feed for steers. Experimental stations report that silage and oil meal or cottonseed meal invariably prove to be cheaper than corn or even than hay or corn with concentrates or silage and hay by themselves.

It is admitted that a steer cannot be finished for beef properly and to the best advantage on an all-silage diet. But the most polished steer on the market is not always the most profitable one. High priced feed may surcoat the high priced carcass.

TEST OF CORN IN NEBRASKA

Loss of Nine Bushels Per Acre From Specially Chosen Seed From Other States.

At the Nebraska Agricultural College seed grown on the farm was planted beside seed grown within sixty miles of the college, and beside prize winning corn from Illinois, Indiana and Ohio. Seed grown on the farm produced 48.8 bushels an acre; seed grown within sixty miles of the farm produced 45.6 bushels an acre, and the specially chosen seed from other states produced 39.8 bushels an acre, a loss of nine bushels an acre by sending out of the state for seed.

CAMELS are in a class by themselves—easily the most refreshing, the most likable cigarette you ever smoked. You can prove that! Simply compare Camels puff-by-puff with any cigarette in the world at any price! Put quality, flavor and cigarette satis- faction to the utmost test!

Made to meet your taste, Camels never tire it, no matter how liberally you smoke them! The expert blend of choice Turkish and choice Domestic tobaccos makes Camels delightful—so full-bodied, yet so fascinatingly smooth and mellow-mild. Every time you light one you get new and keener enjoyment!

Freedom from any unpleasant cigarette after taste or any unpleasant cigarette odor makes Camels as unusual as they are enjoyable.

In fact, Camels appeal to the most fastidious smoker in so many new ways you never will miss the absence of coupons, premiums or gifts. You'll prefer Camel Quality!

Cigarettes

For Those With Gout.
 Carrots are good for those having a tendency to gout.

Japanese Nation Drink.
 Japanese breweries produce 210,000-000 gallons of sake.

Palm Sugar.
 Sugar is extracted from sixteen varieties of palms that grow in Ceylon.

Keep Tacks in Jars.
 Save all small glass jars. One good use for them is to keep tacks, screws and small nails in. It will save time when looking for a particular kind.

Generally Lonesome.
 The trouble with the fellow who is so disagreeable that he "says it to about it afterward.

Fountain Pen Reservoir.
 The reservoir of a new fountain pen holds as much as an ordinary small bottle of ink, and is shaped to fit the hand comfortably.

To-Tell Age of Fish.
 Year rings on the scales of fish are used in Norway and France to determine the age of sardines, whether they have reached their full growth and when they will spawn.

"Good Night" Is Too Long.
 The countryman's "How do?" or "How be?" is outclassed by the London printing trade's "Good" or "Good, George"—omitting the "night" and the "morning."—London Chronicle.

"Kitchen Middens."
 Kitchen middens are great mounds, some 100 feet long and 250 feet wide,
 found in Denmark, England, Scotland, France and in parts of Europe, North and South America and Australia.
 They are supposed to be the refuse heaps of prehistoric periods, and are composed chiefly of oyster, periwinkle, cockle and mussel shells. In them are found implements of wood, stone, bones of animals and cinders.

These Balance Men.
 I profess no special partiality for any critic, who, holding balance in hand, weighs eagerly whatsoever of learning comes to his counter. I question whether he is not taking less of the quality of the wares, than of the fashion of his scales, never questioning their accuracy nor his own levity. Still it must be admitted that these balance men are not without their usefulness, being convenient for appraising market values.—A. Bronson Alcott.

Ancient Honduran City.
 Copan is an ancient ruined city of northwestern Honduras, on the Copan river. The remains are of unknown antiquity and very extensive, stretching for about two miles along the river. The buildings are of stone, embracing a temple over 600 feet long, with many sculptured figures. The Copan ruins take their name from a modern town to the east of them.
 This was an Indian stronghold, and was taken after a fierce struggle by the Spaniards under Hernandez de "Haves in 1530.

The Vapor Treatment FOR Influenza, Croup and Pneumonia

Mothers who know the anguish of waiting helplessly through age-long hours for the physician who may not arrive in time will hard-ly fail to keep on hand a bottle of this effective croup remedy. Vapomenthad is a certain preventive and specific for colds, croup, influenza, grippe, pneumonia and other respiratory ailments.

BRAME'S VAPOMENTHAD SALVE

WILL NOT STAIN THE CLOTHES

It is applied externally to the chest, throat and nostrils and is quickly absorbed through the pores of the skin. Its healing vapors rise and are inhaled directly to the infected membranes. A double-action remedy, it is doubly certain to produce satisfactory results. It has this characteristic that distinguishes it from other salves, it will not stain the clothes. Buy a bottle of Vapomenthad TODAY. It is an invaluable protection for an insignificant price.

A large attendance was present at the Centennial Celebration and Silver Tea, which was given Friday evening at the First Presbyterian church. A most interesting and instructive program was arranged. The church was artistically decorated in ivy, ferns and baskets filled with pink and white roses. On each side of the altar the following gold figures, 1819—1919, were placed. The musical program was rendered by Mrs. James Shelby, of Danville, soloist, Miss Amy Dawes, of Bryantsville, and Mrs. Mae Hughes Noland, accompanist. Mrs. Shelby delighted every one with her singing during the social hour as well as during the program. She has made a study of music all of her life and studied last summer at Cornell University. She is Superintendent of Music in Boyle county schools. On account of the culture and melody of her voice it is a delight to hear her sing and it was indeed a rare privilege for those who heard her Friday evening. NEGLECTING THAT COLD OR COUGH?

Why, when Dr. King's New Discovery so promptly checks it

IT'S natural you don't want to be careless and let that old cold or cough drag on or that new attack develop seriously. Not when you can get such a proved successful remedy as Dr. King's New Discovery. Cold, cough, gripe, croup does not resist this standard reliever very long. Its quality is as high today as it always has been—and it's been growing steadily in popularity for more than fifty years. 60c, and $1.20 a bottle at all druggists. Give it a trial.

The Price of Pork Chops and Bacon

Here are reasons why the fine, fresh pork tenderloins and pork chops, or savory ham, or crinkly bacon, which you enjoy for breakfast, cost much more per pound than the market quotation on live hogs which you read in the newspaper:

An average hog weighs 220 pounds.

Of this, only 70 per cent (154 pounds) is meat and lard.

So, when we pay 15¢ a pound for live hogs, we are really paying more than 21¢ a pound for the meat which we will get from these animals, even after taking into account the value of the by-products.

But people show a preference for only one-third of the whole—the pork chops, fancy bacon, and choice cuts from juicy hams.

This means that when we are selling Premium bacon at 43½¢ per pound wholesale and Premium hams at 30¢, there are other parts for which we get as low as 6¢ or 8¢ per pound. The net result is an average profit to us of less than 1¢ a pound.

The choice cuts are higher because of a demand for them.

Another thing: Only 35 pounds of the entire hog—or about 1/6th—is usually marketed at once. The rest must be pickled, cured, or smoked. This takes months, and adds to the costs which must be met.

Don't Feed Your Liver to Action

NR Overcomes Biliousness, Constipation, Sick Headache, Quickly. No Griping or Pain. Guaranteed.

The organs of digestion, assimilation and elimination—the stomach, liver and bowels—are closely allied, and the proper action of any of these organs is largely dependent upon the correct functioning of all the others. "Whipping" your liver into action with calomel or forcing your bowels with irritating laxatives or strong cathartics is a great mistake. A better, safer plan is strengthening and toning the whole digestive and eliminative system with Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets), which not only brings immediate relief, but genuine and lasting benefit. It acts on the stomach, liver, bowels and kidneys, improves digestion and assimilation, overcomes biliousness, corrects constipation and quickly relieves sick headache. Get your system thoroughly cleansed and purified for once; stomach, liver and bowels working together in vigorous harmony, and you will not have to take medicine every day—just take one NR Tablet occasionally to keep your system in good condition and always feel your best. Remember it is easier and cheaper to keep well than it is to get well. Get a 25c box and try it with the understanding that it must give you greater relief and benefit than any bowel or liver medicine you ever used or no pay. Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) is sold, guaranteed and recommended by your druggist.

KED CROSS XMAS SEALS SOLD HERE.

FENNER'S WAREHOUSE

WALNUT STREET.

DANVILLE, KY.

We wish to announce to the Tobacco Growers adjacent to the Danville Tobacco Market that we will open our Warehouse for the sale of Tobacco on

WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 3

We will receive Tobacco on and after, Monday, November 17.

It gives us great pleasure to inform you that Tobacco in North Carolina and all Eastern Markets is much higher this season than ever before and we see no reason why the Kentucky Tobacco should not sell at High Prices. With the outlook of Prices being high, it is more necessary than ever that you be very careful in selecting a market to sell your Tobacco on where there is strong competition and assurance of getting the highest market price at all times. This we guarantee to do. We have one of the strongest corps of buyers in the state—all of the big companies are represented on our market, buying direct, thereby eliminating the middle man.

In order to care for the ever-growing market there has been erected in Danville a large and up-to-date Redrying Steam Plant, which will be worth a great deal to the farmers who sell their Tobacco on the Danville Market. These people will be big buyers on all grades of Tobacco, thereby creating new competition.

In order to avoid the congestion in the handling of Tobacco, which prevailed last season, we have built a big annex to our present Warehouse, which enables us to handle and sell your Tobacco to a much better advantage than ever before.

Our Mr. Ralph Pitt, who has had twenty-six years of actual experience in the operation of Tobacco Warehouses is in a class to himself and if you will bring your first load to us he will thoroughly demonstrate to you that it will be money in your pocket to sell your tobacco with us.

We wish to announce that Mr. Holland, better known as "Dock" will be our Auctioneer again this season, also J. Lee Murphy who has been connected with the Danville Tobacco Market for the past ten years will be associated with us this season and will be glad to serve his many friends at FENNER'S WAREHOUSE. Thanking you in advance and trusting you will visit our opening sale on DECEMBER 3rd,

We are Yours Very Truly,
